

Status: Home owns and operates this website. We are providing a privacy policy statement because we understand that visitors to our site may be concerned about how we treat any information they provide to us. Status: Home may change or update this policy from time to time.

Status: Home will not share or sell your information to third parties. Status: Home does not collect personally identifiable information about individual users, except when such individuals knowingly provide information on a voluntary basis. For example, personally identifiable information may be collected in order to facilitate volunteering or making a financial donation. This information is used solely for internal purposes by Status: Home or other entities who are involved in the operation of this site.

On the Status: Home website, some forms require users to voluntarily give us contact information (like names and email addresses), financial information (like account or credit card numbers), and demographic information (like street addresses, zip code or age). We use this information to send the user information about Status: Home or to contact the user when necessary or requested. Information that is collected is used solely for the purposes indicated on the form where the information is submitted.

Status: Home will perform statistical analyses of aggregate, non-personally-identifying, user behavior and characteristics in order to measure interest in and use of various areas on our website. In addition to information provided by our visitors, we use the normal Internet tracking tools associated with standard Internet protocols and web-based systems. This system information is typically stored in log files and the information is used for aggregate reporting. Aggregate reporting includes: total number of visitors, most visited sections, peak traffic times, etc. Log files are simply transaction records web servers maintain. Those logs are used for recording information, such as service provider IP addresses, browser versions, referring Web sites, search terms used, average number of pages requested, average duration of visit, and total visitor traffic.

We use aggregate information gathered from your visit to better design our website. This information supplies us with a broad picture of how people use our website in order to help the management of our systems and to better serve our audience.

This website contains hyperlinks to other sites. Status: Home is not responsible for the privacy practices, or the content, of such other sites. This statement and the policies outlined herein are not intended to and do not create any contractual or other legal rights in or on behalf of any party.

Status: Home uses Fundraise Up as an online donation platform. All donation data collected is subject to the provisions of the General Data Protection Regulation ("GDPR"), the California Consumer Privacy Act of 2018 ("CCPA"), and other applicable privacy laws. Non-Personal Information that is collected remains anonymous or non-personally identifiable. All Personally Identifiable Information (PII) is encrypted. Financial information such as banking information or credit card number, name, CVV code or date of expiration, is collected and stored by a third party payment processor. Financial information is not stored by Fundraise Up Inc.

When making a donation, information collected may include:

Contact and account information such as name, email address, physical address, location data, phone number, and social media information;

Technical information collected. Such information may include standard web log entries that contain IP address, cookies (first party, third party, session, persistent, and flash), web beacons, page URL and timestamp.
